II. Scope and Content Note

These papers consist of the personal correspondence, clippings, records, etc., collected in the personal files of Dr. Norris from 1928 until his death in 1952. Earlier files were destroyed in a fire at the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth. There are 281315 numbered items, which exclude duplicates (carbons, photostats, duplicate clippings). The files are arranged alphabetically by correspondent, chronologically under each correspondent, with miscellaneous letters grouped at the beginning of each letter of the alphabet, and a sizeable collection of various miscellanea and ephemera following the alphabet.

The collection is of primary importance for the study of the Fundamentalist movement among Baptists from the 1920's into the post-World War II years, especially relative to the methodology and psychology of this particular type of radical dissent.

Dr. Norris was known as a controversialist, and his concerns in these years, 1928-1952, will be seen to group themselves around shifting centers of controversy. These are, principally, (1) the Al Smith-Herbert Hoover presidential campaign of 1928; (2) the evolution issue, especially as it pertained to Baylor University; (3) his charges of Communist sympathies on noted American churchmen, especially Louie Newton, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, 1947-1948; and (4) a rupture in the ranks of his own organization, dating from June 1 1950. A standing controversy with the agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention and the Baptist General Convention of Texas plays counterpoint to these major foci. A great deal of Dr. Norris' energies in this period was devoted to the development of the Bible Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. The growth and trials of this institution are reflected in much of this correspondence. Dr. Norris was active in politics, and his sympathies will be found expressed not only in his correspondence with prominent politicians, but with various industrial executives of Detroit. Dr. Norris was a constant commentator on national and international affairs, from Al Smith to the Korean War, but there is an amazing absence of mention in these papers of World War II.

Dr. Norris' principal correspondents were leaders in the Fundamentalist movement. The most important of all the files are those of his correspondence with his two colleagues Louis Entzminger and G. Beauchamp Vick. The index to these papers will reveal numerous references to leaders in the Southern Baptist Convention, but these are predominantly instances in which the person is mentioned in other correspondence. Dr. Norris' letters addressed to these men generally went unanswered. It will be discovered that personalities are the predominant subject matter in these papers.

Care must be exercised in studying these papers lest some letters be overlooked, which are apparently by Dr. Norris, although written anonymously (very seldom) or over another signature (more often). It appears that he would occasionally write letters to Baptist leaders for other of his sympathizers, using their names. At other times he would desire certain information in which he felt his name should not be mentioned. Such correspondence can be recognized by several criteria: (1) it appears on standard 8 ½ x 11 paper rather than on the smaller letterhead of the church, (2) it can be distinguished from carbons sent to him by others in that the paper has never been folded, (3) where a return address is needed, the street address of the church, 4081 Throckmorton, is given rather than the name of the church, (4) it is composed in short, staccato paragraphing characteristic of Norris or his secretary, and (5) Dr. Norris' language has its own flavor which one familiar with his writings will recognize. Probable examples of this are items 16,941; 17,071; 17,441; 22,550-22,553.

Under an item number there will be indicated whether duplicates of the item are to be found in the duplicate files. If there is one duplicate, the notation "1 cop71r will appear. In the case of some items, it may be of interest what the purpose of duplication was, e.g., for distribution in mass or to friends, for inclusion in the Fundamentalist.

Among the most revealing correspondence are the files of E. P. Alldredge, The Atlanta Constitution, Dallas Billington, Clinton S. Carnea, The Columbus Ledger-Inquirer, A. Reilly Copeland, Fred Donnelson, W. E. Dowell, Louis Entzminger, B. H. Hilliard, P. E. Hutchinson, R. T. Ketcham, Louie Newton, L. Re Scarborough, Art Wilson, Wendell Zimmerman, and above all, G. Beauchamp Vick.

Among the figures of national significance with whom Dr. Norris had exchanges of letters, there will be found correspondence over the signatures of Dwight D. Eisenhower, Lyndon B. Johnson, Richard Nixon, Sam Rayburn, and Harry S. Truman. Dr. Norris was especial fond of duplicating such autographs.

A file of special interest is a brief exchange of letters with Captain John Birch, then with the U.S. Army in China, and serving as a missionary under the auspices of Dr. Norris and the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth.

Item 27765-copy of Abraham Lincoln's 2nd inaugural address. Collection consists of 47 boxes of correspondence, a few clippings and miscellanea.

Item 28316 -Manuscript -"J. Frank Norris: the Pastorate of the Temple

Baptist Church of Detroit, 1935-1950," by Dr. Royce Measures. Condensation of a paper presented at Texas Baptist Historical Society, October 30, 1979. Box 47
